The impact of group therapy based on change stages in prevention relapse among substance abusers in kerman

Fatmeh Golestani.M.A

Abstract

Objectives: This project assess the impact of group therapy based on chang stages in prevention on relapse of addiction among addict people in kerman. The main pupose of this project is increasing the knowledge in effectivness of this metod.

Method: The metod of this experimental,statical populationis all the addicts in kerman. The sample group is ۳۰ pepole, that were selected randomly.Measurement tools are preparedness ruler and clinical interview. The way of performing involves fourteen session thet they were performed after they were choosen.

Finding: The analys of data compares by testing of significance two ratio independently.

Conclusion: Asaresult accepting hypothesis. The impact of group therapy is based on change stage reduces relapse addicts.

Key words: Addict, relaps, group thrapy based on chang stage, prevention on relapse

[Downloaded from etiadpajohi.ir on 2026-10-16]